

Spintronics

Michel Dyakonov

Laboratoire de Physique Mathématique, Université Montpellier II, France

I will review the historic roots and the recent very active research of spin phenomena in semiconductors as well as some proposals for spin-based devices, known under the name of "spintronics". The real achievements to date and the perspectives for future developments will be discussed.